Guidelines for the operation of Fèisean nan Gàidheal’s Annualised Hours Scheme

The following guidelines are included to help Fèisean and the appointed Fèis administrator operate the Annualised Hours Scheme

1. Prior to appointment

Draw up a job description and specification for the prospective Fèis administrator. This description should be a realistic target for the number of hours offered, and clearly state to whom the Fèis administrator is accountable (line manager) within the Fèis committee.

Fèisean should check their constitution if offering the post to an existing committee member as it is unusual for committee members of voluntary bodies to be allowed to receive remuneration other than expenses. Depending on what your constitution says, it may mean that if a person who is currently serving on a Fèis committee is being offered employment by that committee, s/he may have to stand down from the committee to take up the post offered.

Apply to Fèisean nan Gàidheal (FnG) for annualised hours, following all procedures as required.

On a decision being made as to whom the post should be offered, the applicant should be informed, and a starting date agreed. The name of the successful candidate should then be passed to FnG, along with contact details. The other interviewed candidates should also be informed that they have been unsuccessful in this instance.

2. Post appointment

Remuneration, contracted hours, Fèis attendance, training requirements, FnG AGM attendance etc, should all be set out in contract form and agreed with the Fèis administrator in advance of their taking up the position. A sample contract is set out in Appendix 1 which may be adapted to suit individual requirements. We can also e-mail you a copy on request.

Once the contract is agreed, FnG can release the first instalment of any agreed grant for the Fèis administrator.

3. Training

As stated under the terms of the contract, and under the terms of Fèisean nan Gàidheal’s grant scheme, Fèis administrators may be required to attend training sessions according to need. The cost of attending these sessions will be reimbursed. We may also be able to offer one-to-one training identified by individual Fèis administrators. This should be discussed with your manager.

4. Fèisean nan Gàidheal Requirements

FnG would expect that the Fèis administrator would reply to queries, update computer virus software, check, and deal with e-mails in a timely manner and be the main point of contact with the Fèis on a day-to-day basis. All administrators should be familiar with computer contract guidelines if using a Fèisean nan Gàidheal computer, refer to Appendix 2. All records of personal information (e.g., Fèis participants, committee members, tutors, etc) should be kept in accordance with the General Data Protection Guidelines (GDPR) and are covered under FnG’s registration with the Information Commissioner, unless separate registration is applied for, and granted.

5. Managing the person employed

A suitable person within the committee should be appointed as line manager to the Fèis administrator. This person should be available to give guidance where required, and to ensure the welfare and progress of the Fèis administrator. The Fèis chair or secretary may be the most suitable person for this task. Regular meetings with the Fèis administrator should be held to ensure progress.

During the contract, the committee should ensure that the original terms of the job description are adhered to, or that these are altered in consultation with the Fèis administrator and their designated line manager.
6. Self-management

The Fèis administrator should keep a log of their hours, detailing work carried out, training received, etc, which may be inspected by any member of the local Fèis committee on application. Similarly, the financial records of the Fèis may be inspected by any member of the local Fèis committee on application.

Computer Contract Guidelines

1. “We”, Fèisean nan Gàidheal/the Employer, supply equipment to “You”, the contractor, for the purposes of maintaining communication throughout the Féis movement, and to enable you to carry out administrative tasks on behalf of the Féis.

2. The equipment will always remain our property and its use will be subject to any instructions and software updates, which may from time to time be issued by us.

3. We will insure the equipment while in transit.

4. You must insure the equipment while it is at your address, and hereby indemnify us against any damage or loss occurring while at your address. We may require confirmation from time to time that the equipment continues to be insured by you.

5. You must keep the equipment in good condition.

6. This equipment must not be passed on to any other user without our prior approval.

7. We reserve the right to reclaim the equipment at any time.

8. We must be allowed access to the equipment as required, by giving you not less than 48 hours prior notice.

9. The equipment is supplied with all software necessary to carry out Féis work. Should you wish to make any hardware or software modifications/upgrades, you may only do so with our prior permission. If permission is granted, it will be your responsibility to ensure that any upgrades carried out are virus free.

10. You must work in accordance with the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974, and you will have general responsibility for ensuring that you:

   • make yourself familiar with, and conform to, the health and safety policy always.
   • observe all safety rules and operate safe systems of work.
   • conform to all instructions given by us, and others with a responsibility for health and safety.
   • report all hazards, unsafe working practices, or breaches of the safety policy to us.
   • report all accidents or incidents, whether persons are injured or not, to us.

11. You must work in accordance with the Health and Safety (display screen equipment) regulations Act 1992.

12. All data kept on the computer system must be kept in accordance with our GDPR Policy (add link).

13. You will be supplied with a ‘feisean.scot’ e-mail address, through which most communication from Fèisean nan Gàidheal will be sent. You must, therefore, check for e-mail on a regular basis, and at least once a week, and respond within a reasonable time.

14. You must undertake a full virus scan on a monthly basis. All new files should be virus scanned prior to their first use. The equipment is supplied with virus scanning software and, therefore, we will not be liable for any damage caused by viruses.

15. The equipment is supplied with a surge protector which covers electrical and telephone sockets. The equipment must always remain connected through this device, and we will, therefore, not be liable for any damage caused by electrical faults or lightning strikes.

16. We must be notified immediately if any damage occurs to any of the equipment covered by this agreement.

17. The guidelines provided with the equipment are advisory only and should be treated as such. Therefore, we will not be held responsible for any claims resulting from the use of the guidelines.
